

*"The Divine Is Not Outside You.
It Is Within You."*

Judith Elondo's work, "Awakening the Divine Within," presents a spiritual framework that encourages individuals to transition from traditional religious systems to a state of inner sovereignty. The author argues that God is pure consciousness existing within the human mind rather than a distant deity. Asserting that humanity must reclaim its role as a creator of reality. This transformation is guided by four cardinal virtues—truth, conscience, righteousness and justice—which serve as the spiritual foundation for moral and mental alignment. Through structured methods like the "7Ts" mental processes and specific breathing exercises, the text provides a blueprint for breaking free from fear-based conditioning. Ultimately, the source serves as a guide for spiritual awakening, teaching readers to harmonize their inner vibrational state with their external experiences to achieve personal fulfillment.
